Who? We are simply a local group of volunteers who have set ourselves up to protect unloved green spaces – and help other people and groups wanting just that. We're an information exchange . . . an umbrella group to make things happen and to help areas and bits we love. And most wildlife that lives there too.

Where? Have a look at BARGE_s website (and join our email group) for all sorts of ways to get involved. We're very new and have lots more events and surveys on the way. On 14 February there's our Love Birds event in Russia Dock Woodland. 14 March is Wild Food Day at Stave Hill Ecological Park. Our next meeting is on 3 March – all very welcome. And what do you want? Do join us – it won't cost you anything and you can help make a difference.

Help us build up this local map of green spaces that need protecting by putting your local ones onto it too
